Article on new biomarker-based incidence estimator published

Annette Gerritsen - Epidemiology consultant at Epi Result

In the November 2011 issue of the SACEMA Quarterly, an article was published on testing for recent infection to estimate HIV incidence from single cross-sectional surveys (1). The article which formally publishes the latest derivations referred to in the earlier article from Kassanjee et.al., was in September 2012 published in Epidemiology (2).

Annette Gerritsen, Epidemiology consultant at Epi Result. Areas of interest: research methodology, infectious diseases epidemiology, migration and health. Annette.gerritsen@epiresult.com

References: